THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1880

FOR PRESIDENT,
 JAMES A. GAREFIELD,
 OF OHIO.
 FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
 CHESTER A. ARTHUR,
 OF NEW YORK.

Press of matter has crowded the columns of the GAZETTE for the past ten days to such an extent that everything that could be laid over has been left out in order to give more reading matter. The new I X L advertisement broke the camel's back and compels us to issue a supplement. This will give us an opportunity to put in our usual amount of reading and other matter, which has been omitted since the Fair began.

THE CHOICE TO BE MADE.

The question to be decided by the voters of this county in November is not a personal question. They are to decide whether the liberties, the peace and the prosperity of this Nation are to be intrusted to one party or to the other.

Under the present Republican Administration the country is prosperous, public affairs are honestly and efficiently conducted, the currency has been put upon a sound basis, confidence is restored, business is everywhere reviving, the National credit has been raised to a high standard, and the rights of citizens everywhere protected. What changes may be looked for should Hancock be elected, and the Democratic party come into power?

One of the first results would be a Democratic Supreme Court. The highest tribunal in the land would then be composed of representatives of a party which declared the war unconstitutional, and which has maintained the right of secession. A Democratic Supreme Court could not be expected to uphold the reconstruction of the Southern States, nor to maintain the constitutional amendments. It cost the American people five thousand millions of dollars and three hundred thousand lives to preserve the Union and the sovereign power of the Nation. Are they willing to entrust the control of the government and the highest judicial tribunal in the land to the hands of the very party which sought to destroy the Union? Are they willing that all this blood and treasure should have been spent for nothing? If so, let them elect Hancock, and undo the work and the sacrifices of twenty years.

Let the Democrats come into power again, and the whole of our present financial system will be overthrown. The Democratic party has radically unsound ideas upon the subject of finance. It has ever since the war lent itself to every scheme of repudiation and inflation. The Solid Southern States have repudiated, to a greater or less extent, their own State debts, incurred for internal improvements, should the Democratic party, which is dominated by the Southern element, come into power, can it be expected to respect the obligation to honestly pay a debt which was contracted in suppressing the rebellion? The sway of the Democracy means the overthrow of the National banking system, and a return to the old "wild cat" banks. We should have bank notes in circulation ranging in value all the way from one cent to one hundred cents on the dollar. Where we now have one bank failure we should then have a hundred. We can thank the Republican party that there is now no bad money in this country. Let the Democratic party come into power, and within six months specie payments will be stopped and greenbacks selling below par. When the news of the so-called Democratic victory in Maine reached New York the price of U. S. bonds fell three-eighths of one per cent during the day, and a corresponding decline took place in London.

The Lincoln county Democrats have nominated the following Legislative ticket: For State Senator, Henry Henderson. For Assemblyman, M. Barrett, James Shier, Charles Panton, Henry Rice and George P. Roe.

REBEL CLAIMS.

Every tax-payer in the country should read this article from Harper's Weekly. It is the best and most lucid statement that we have yet seen of the real nature of the rebel claims that they may be called upon to pay in the event of Democratic success next month. It will be seen that there is real cause for alarm:

"There is great misapprehension about rebel claims. The Democrats at every opportunity declare that the talk about them is mere Republican bugaboo; that the claims are barred by the Fourteenth Amendment; and, with ludicrous inconsistency, that all claims which have been allowed have been paid by Republicans. If such claims are a bugaboo, and prohibited by the Constitution, why did Mr. Tilden write a letter in 1876 engaging to oppose their payment? The truth is, as Mr. Tilden knew, that the claims in question are not those which are barred by the amendment. That forbids payment of debts incurred in aid of rebellion, or of claims for loss by the emancipation of slaves, and nothing more. The claims in question are those for property belonging to rebels which was destroyed in suppressing the rebellion. Claims which have been allowed by a Republican Congress are those of loyal Union men whose property was appropriated by the army.

The distinction between the parties on this subject is this: The Republicans have paid the claims of the loyal Union men, while the Democrats would pay the claims of rebels whose property was destroyed in prosecuting the war. This, however, is impossible under the existing laws, and therefore, as Mr. Edmunds points out in his letter, which has been widely published, the Democrats have attempted to repeal this distinction in the law, and should they obtain control of the executive as well as the legislative branch of the government, they would at once repeal the distinction. When Mr. Tilden said that if he became the head of the executive department he would not co-operate in the repeal, it proved that he believed there was a general apprehension of such an intention upon the part of "the South," or the Democratic party, and the fact of such an intention was made more probable by the subsequent indifference on the part of "the South" to his election.

Mr. Edmunds shows also that pensions are not prohibited by the Fourteenth Amendment, and if "the South," or the Democratic party, should obtain control of the government, and choose to pension those of their number who tried to destroy it, there is no constitutional barrier. Those who vote for General Hancock will vote to pass the Democratic bill now pending in Congress to repeal the distinction between loyal and disloyal claimants."

The New York Tribune recently published a lengthy list, occupying three columns in fine type, of Southern claims, giving an outline of the nature of each. All were for losses sustained by Southern rebels during the war. The Tribune printed them with this introduction:

"The third installment of Southern claims, furnished here with, brings the record down to the present date. The estimate made a year ago of the aggregate amount asked for by the Solid South for internal improvements, private relief bills, and war claims based on the refunding of the cotton tax, was $1,287,524,735. Another session of Congress has added $103,445,978 to this amount, so that the grand aggregate is now $1,390,970,313. Appalling as these figures are, they represent only a small fraction of the sum total of Confederate rapacity. Let the principle once be recognized that disloyalty does not affect a claimant's standing, and the demand of the Solid South will be multiplied. Senator Edmunds is not an alarmist, and he says that the Democrats in Congress will remove "the distinctions in respect of claims of loyal and disloyal persons" by a solid or nearly solid vote, "the moment they get possession of all the Departments of the Government." He adds most emphatically that the fourth section of the XIVth Amendment does not interfere with any barrier to the payment of claims based upon the destruction of property by the United States armies, not even "to pensioning every rebel soldier or soldier's widow and children, or indeed, every other rebel." The question is: "Can the North afford it?"

THE SHIFTING VOTERS.

The Democrats stand as much show of carrying Ohio as they do the moon. Garfield is the most popular man that ever lived in the State, and will get a round majority. The fact is that all this blowing about carrying this State or that State is from the unworthy motives. It is to catch a lot of men, whose highest principle in casting their vote, is to forward their own small interests. They are ready to flip to the successful side in the mere hope that it may put flesh in their pots. It is certainly an unworthy motive and one which it seems should be discouraged rather than fostered. We can well afford to wait until the votes are counted, and then let those laugh who win.

The Democratic Convention of White Pine nominated Thos. Rockhill for Senator; Assemblymen—Charles Green, John Condon, George E. Parker and George G. Blair; for Sheriff, T. J. Andrews; Clerk, John McKernan; Assessor, Wash. Woodberry; District Attorney, Charles Thackston; Commissioners, Halstead and Flynn.

'SECTIONAL' SM.

Two Kinds for the North to Choose From.

THE DEMOCRATIC.

James G. Field, Attorney-General of Virginia, Sept. 15, 1880.

We killed a great many Yankees during the war, and I wish we had killed twice as many more, enough to have given us the victory and our cause success.

General Fitzhugh Lee, at Portsmouth, Va., Sept. 2, 1880.

If you desire that those heroes buried under (pointing to the Confederate monument) shall not have died in vain, vote the Democratic ticket and vindicate the principles for which they sacrificed their lives.

Wade Hampton, at Charleston, July 24, 1880.

I yield, fellow citizens, as you know, to none in devotion to our lost cause. I shall never declare the men who fought for it traitors or rebels.

Wade Hampton before the Southern Historical Society, Oct. 29, 1878.

The origin, progress and culmination of the great controversy between the antagonistic sections of the continent, which began in the convention of 1877, and ended for the time being at Appomattox in 1865.

Wade Hampton at Stanton, July 28, 1880.

Consider what Lee and Jackson would do were they alive. These are the same principles for which they fought for four years.

Congressman Blackburn, of Kentucky, in the House, April 5, 1878.

We do not intend to stop until we have stricken the last vestige of your war legislation from the statute books.

William B. English, May 2, 1880.

A terrible explosion will come sooner or later if this fell spirit of sectional strife continues. To avert so dire a calamity we should not only defeat but annihilate this Republican party.

William B. English in his Letter of Acceptance, July 30, 1880.

The success of the Democratic ticket would bury beyond resurrection sectional jealousies and hatreds, and restore harmony and good feeling between all the sections.

Frankly Leaders, Democratic candidate for Governor of Indiana, in August, 1880.

When General Hancock is elected he will carry this Government back where it was when the Republicans got it.

A DEPLORABLE STATE OF SOCIETY.

Nevada society is in a most unfortunate condition at present. Every man is suspicious of his neighbor and there is no confidence left. Every body who takes part in public matters, especially politics, is supposed to be waiting for the corrupting to begin. He is supposed to be willing to be bought and paid for either by Sharon or Fair. Men whose word has never been questioned heretofore, are publicly spoken of as actively coquetting with the sack and ready to take their dose of coin. The nods and winks of the suspicious, are all the harder to answer, because it has come to pass that Sharon is about the only man who can grapple with Fair, so that these two must for the time being stand as representatives of their parties, and the most earnest and sacred feelings of the patriotic heart impel every one of us to be on the side of one or the other. In our opinion these two men have committed a great crime by making a moneyed fight for the high office of Senator, and we can see how a few honest members of the legislature could cover themselves with glory by defeating them both. We say to our citizens, let us not entirely lose our trust in each other, and our faith in mankind. There is still honor and honesty left in Nevada, and in the long run it will prove itself.

TO VOTERS.

There are only two weeks more in which to register. Only 721 voters have registered in this precinct, up to this date. At the last Presidential election there were 944 registered voters in this precinct. Where are the 223 voters who have not registered? Let every man register and vote. It is a sacred duty.

Registration closes on the twentieth instant. Don't wait until the last day. Register now. See that all your Republican friends are registered. Every vote should be made to tell this year. Recollect that every voter must have registered this year, to vote in November.

BETTER TIMES.

California ought to soon come out from under the cloud. Her prospects seem very much better than they have been before for a year or two. The harvest has been immense. Every car and engine on the coast is being rushed night and day to move the wheat. There is a great deal of building in San Francisco. Some of the structures are very large and fine. The lower end of Market street is improving rapidly. The foundries are doing a great deal of work and mechanics of all trades are busy. It looks as though next year would be a good one.

THE REPUBLICAN.

Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg, Nov. 9, 1863.

It is for us the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain. That this Nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that the government of the people shall not perish from the earth.

General Garfield in Congress, June 27, 1879.

The war for the Union was right—everlasting right; the war against the Union was wrong—forever wrong.

General Grant to Senator Logan, Aug. 12, 1880.

I agree with you that it will not do to be beaten now. We should never be beaten till every man who counts, or represents those who count, can cast his vote just as he pleases, and can have it counted just as he casts it.

General Garfield in New York, Aug. 6, 1880.

So long as we live we will stand by these black allies. We will stand by them until the sun of liberty, fixed in the firmament of our Constitution, shall shine with equal ray upon every man, black or white, throughout the Union. In this there is all the beneficence of eternal justice, and by this we will stand forever.

Address of the Independent Republicans of New York, Horace White, President.

There is danger lest the election of Hancock should be interpreted as to obscure the fact that the war ended in a compromise, not a compromise. We recognize the dilemma in which the South is placed by the introduction of a new political element, composed mainly of the ignorant and indigent, but we find in the manner in which that dilemma has been met evidences of the survival in those communities which still control the Democratic party of the ideas and habits nourished by slavery, in the just abhorrence of which the Republican party finds its birth and finds a necessity for its continued existence.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A man whose twenty-first birthday falls upon the third day of November next (the day after the general election) will be entitled to vote on Nov. 2. This is in accordance with a principle of the common law, as laid down in Kent, vol. 2, page 251: "A man is 21 years of age at the beginning of the day preceding the twenty-first anniversary of his birth." The same principle is also set forth by Blackstone.

The U. S. troops in the South average about one soldier to a county and a half. Yet the Democratic organs never tire of repeating the cry of "bayonets at the polls." The fact is there is not the tenth part of an inch of Federal bayonet in the South to each polling place. But there are plenty of old Confed. rifles there to intimidate the colored voters with.

Should the Republican gains throughout the country be proportionate to the gain in Connecticut, as shown by the recent town elections in that State, a large popular majority will be rolled up for Garfield next month.

The S. F. Chronicle has a special correspondent in Indiana, with orders to send impartial reports of the political situation. He writes that the State is likely to give Porter, the Republican candidate for Governor, a majority of at least five or six thousand.

The WEEKLY GAZETTE issued to-day, will be a treat to our subscribers. It contains a great deal of good reading.

The following is the vote of Maine, according to the official returns: Davis, Republican, 73,040; Plaised, Fusionist, 73,814.

Newcastle, Placer county, Cal., is infested with a malarial fever. It is caused by irrigating ditches.

It is said that Hancock has lost thirty pounds since his nomination.

California has a corner in nails.

We Can't Talk

Without showing the condition of our teeth. Every laugh exposes them. In order not to embarrass them, let us use that standard dentifrice, SUZUDONT, which is sure to keep them white and spotless. No tartar can encrust them, no cancer affict the gums, no species of decay infect the dental bone, if SUZUDONT is regularly used. It is a botanical preparation, and its beneficial effects on the teeth and gums are marvellous, as it removes all discolorations, and renders the gums hard and rosy.

C. A. LOOMIS'S

REPUBLICAN NATIONAL PLATFORM.

Following is the text of the resolutions adopted by the Republican National Convention on Saturday, June 5, 1880:

Republican rule has restored upon a solid basis payment in coin for all the national obligations, and has given us a currency absolutely good and legal, and equal in every part of our extended country. It has lifted the credit of the nation from the point where six per cent bonds sold at 80, to that where four per cent bonds are eagerly sought at a premium.

Under its administration railways have increased from $1,000,000,000 in 1860 to more than $2,000,000,000 in 1879. Without resorting to loans it has, since the war closed, defrayed the ordinary expenses of government, besides the accruing interest on the public debt, and disbursed annually more than $200,000,000 for the benefit of the people.

It has paid $200,000,000 of the public debt, and by resuming the balance at lower rates, has reduced the annual interest charges from nearly $100,000,000 to less than $25,000,000.

All the industries of the country have revived; labor is in demand; wages have increased; the business of the country there is evidence of a coming prosperity greater than we have ever enjoyed.

For the continued confidence and support of the people, and this country, it is submitted that the Republican party should be re-elected to the presidency and the control of the government.

First. We affirm that the work of the last twenty-one years has been such as to commend itself to the favor of the nation, and that the fruits of the policy pursued by us have been achieved through immense difficulties should be preserved.

Second. The Constitution of the United States is the supreme law, and not a mere compact, and the constituted authorities, made a sovereign nation, some powers are vested in the nation, while others are retained by the States.

Third. The work of popular education is one left to the care of several States, but it is the duty of the nation to aid in that work to the extent of its constitutional ability.

Fourth. The Constitution wisely forbids Congress to make any law respecting an establishment of religion, but it is idle to hope that the nation can be protected against the influence of sectarianism while the State is exposed to its particular domination.

Fifth. We reaffirm the belief avowed in 1860, and in 1876, that the purpose of the revenue should be so distributed as to favor American labor, and that no further grant of the public domain should be made to any foreign or other corporation.

Sixth. Since the authority to regulate immigration and intercourse between the United States and foreign nations rests with the Congress of the United States and the treaty-making power, the Republican party, regarding the unrestricted immigration of the Chinese as a matter of grave concernment, and under the control of which the nation would limit and restrict that immigration by the enactment of such just, humane and reasonable laws and treaties as will produce that result.

Seventh. That the party and patriotism which characterized the efforts of the Republican party in 1860 and 1876, and which enabled them to overcome the difficulties of the war and to secure the peace, should be continued to inspire him in his career as chief executive, and that history will record the administration of such a President as one of the most efficient, just and courageous in the history of the Republic.

Eighth. We charge upon the Democratic party the habitual sacrifice of justice and integrity to the interests of the few, and the oppression of the many, and that to obtain possession of the national and state governments, they have obstructed all the efforts to preserve the purity and integrity of the national government, and have labored to prevent the election of members of Congress, to secure at all hazards the election of their own nominees.

Ninth. That the Republican party have endeavored to occupy by force and fraud places of trust given them by the people of Maine, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud.

Tenth. That the Republican party have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud.

Eleventh. That the Republican party have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud.

Twelfth. That the Republican party have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud.

Thirteenth. That the Republican party have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud.

Fourteenth. That the Republican party have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud.

Fifteenth. That the Republican party have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud.

Sixteenth. That the Republican party have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud.

Seventeenth. That the Republican party have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud.

Eighteenth. That the Republican party have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud.

Nineteenth. That the Republican party have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud.

Twentieth. That the Republican party have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud, and that they have endeavored to secure the election of their nominees by the use of force and fraud.
